An Italian Musical

Concept

"Vucciria...I Sei Ottavi all'opera" is the new musical drama by the vocal group "Sei Ottavi". Its central theme is the suggestion of a world that is deeply rooted in the most famous Italian tradition, that of Opera, meant not only in its musical sense but also as a mixture of music, costumes, colours and everything linked to the concept of "farce".

"Vucciria...I Sei Ottavi all'opera" it's a surreal musical drama that arises from the Idea of the market meant as a place of exchange, experiences, events and also as an artistic expression in which different and sometimes very clashing realities coexist at close quarters. A place where everything is possible. Everything is "Vucciria", uproar.

"Sei Ottavi" group is the main character of a story in which fantasy and reality, music and images are mixed by the composition and decomposition of sound fragments, on the background of the famous market of Palermo called "Vucciria". So, building reality in this way, "Sei Ottavi" group stages a charming picture of a sumptuous Palermo with its sounds, colours, moods and cultural blend.

Vucciria

Gigi Razete - La Repubblica 5.05.13

"Why don't we imagine the market of Vucciria as the centre of the universe and make of it the set of a musical? It's easy if you have the skills and the creativity of "Sei Ottavi". The vocal group turns colors, gestures, tradition and the typical "abbanniate" (screams) of the local market of Palermo into an intense and dreamy Babel, where the grand opera flirts with Broadway, jazz with tango, the popular song with rock. Costumes and scenographies draw on the reality and create imaginary and universal suggestions that smartly cross both sliding pictures on the screen and Marika Rizzo and Josh Rizzuto's acrobatic choreographies. The performance a cappella is amazing and the patchwork of sounds by Gaetano Randazzo mixing Mozart's "Die Zauberflöte" with Queen's "Bohemian Rhapsody", Khachaturian's "Sabre Dance" with Led Zeppelin's "Stairway to heaven" its totally compelling. Sensational are also the unreleased theme, above all "Arioso" by Randazzo and Sigillò: by now a timeless classic."

The charm of Vucciria, striking local market of Palermo and inspiration of one the most famous painting of Renato Guttuso, puts a spell also on Sei Ottavi group, that is standing out in the Italian music scene. The result is an original show titled "Vucciria...I Sei Ottavi all'op-era" and based on a vocal tale in which fantasy and reality, images and sounds, traditions and blend, identity and cultural plurality are mixed with past and present sensorial suggestion. In fact, the interpretation is characterized by polyphony and by the reproduction, only with voices, of instrumental and onomatopoeic effects. It is the conceptualization of something that does not exist anymore but in memory, from the desire of recreate an absurd but positive situation, starting from today's decline. And then there is a return to an original absurdity in a rude way: rubbish is transformed as when you find something beautiful among the junk dealer.

Every single character is inspired from movies, like Gangs of New York and Alice in Wonderland and Sweetie Todd, in this way the merchant is painted in a folk tale dimension. The musical is presented as a new project, a modern vocal opera picking in tradition in order to go beyond it.

Short musical composition

"Sei Ottavi" group goes into one of the most famous and historical market of Italy telling a tale made of magic, colors and music.

In a dull morning, with light colors, almost in black and white, a young woman is walking through the alleys of the city center. When Elisa, the woman, is in front of a junk dealer, she notices her reflex in a mirror but there is a news: her reflex is in colours, very in colours. Curiosity and astonishment make Elisa comes closer to the mirror to such an extent that she passes through it and she finds herself in an alternative dimension.

Elisa, a modern "Alice in wonderland", will meet strange and happy merchants, the rest of "Sei Ottavi" group, while they are singing and interacting with inanimate objects. Among the stalls we can see vegetables, fishes and steaks flying from a place to another. "Sei Ottavi"'s Vucciria is made of many colors, movements, joy, mystery and fascination. It is populated by acrobats and dancers, a wedding procession coming out from a black and white picture, boxers from thirties, charlatans, charming women, friendly characters and an inevitable fire-breathing. And at the end, the journey finish during the night, when Elisa comes back to her reality without noticing it.
